A SOLID COMPANY FOR LIQUID SOLUTIONS

When shipping liquids, companies around the world rely on the logistics solutions of Trans Ocean. For over 30 years, we have provided our customers with market-leading services in bulk liquid transportation.

The flexitank is an innovation which has the potential to transform the supply chains of companies around the world. Combining expertise in the design, manufacturing and use of flexitanks with world-class logistics systems and service standards, we deliver a variety of supply chain solutions to meet the diverse and evolving requirements of our customers.

FULL SERVICE

At Trans Ocean, we offer a full service, door-to-door delivery option. No matter what logistics challenges you face, our full service package takes care of every stage of your supply chain process.

MORE PERSONAL

To meet our customers' needs, our logistics experts and technical teams worldwide provide a tailored, personal service.

We work alongside our clients to understand their business, and then provide end-to-end solutions that add real value.

TRULY GLOBAL

As part of the Hillebrand Group of companies, we form part of a global network of offices with operations in over 80 countries. Thanks to our local office network and global systems, we're able to offer flexitank solutions in every key market, covering even remote locations – making it easier for you to access new markets.

TECHNICAL EXPERTISE

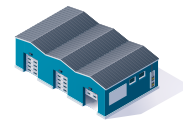

Each of the items within our product catalogue are designed, engineered and manufactured entirely in-house, in one of our three wholly owned factories. We have complete control over equipment supply and quality, which allows us to provide the most reliable and cost effective flexitank solutions.

SUSTAINABLE SOLUTIONS

Economically and environmentally, shipping in bulk delivers proven advantages. Our flexitanks can hold up to 24,000 litres/ 24 tonnes of product, allowing you to ship more for less while reducing carbon emissions.

Trans Ocean's flexitanks are fully recyclable, and we have recycling operations in place in countries around the world. As part of our long term sustainable development program, we are committed to lowering the environmental impact of our operations.
